2014 Call for Applications

Deadline: March 18, 2014, 3:00 p.m. ET

Purpose

The Harold Amos Medical Faculty Development Program was established to increase the number of faculty from historically disadvantaged backgrounds who can achieve senior rank in academic medicine and dentistry and who will encourage and foster the development of succeeding classes of such physicians and dentists. Four-year postdoctoral research awards are offered to universities, schools of medicine and dentistry and research institutions to support the research and career development of physicians and dentists from historically disadvantaged backgrounds who are committed to developing careers in academic medicine and dentistry and to serving as role models for students and faculty of similar background. The program defines the term “historically disadvantaged” to mean the challenges facing individuals because of their race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status or similar factors.

Total Awards

We will fund up to nine four-year awards in this grant cycle. Scholars will receive an annual stipend of up to $75,000 each, complemented by a $30,000 annual grant toward support of research activities.

We have jobs for education officers in USAID*s foreign service. A master's degree in education, public administration, business, international development or related field is required.

While I recognize a career overseas is not for everyone, working as a Foreign Service officer at USAID has been the best career experience of my life. Serving in the developing world is a chance to make a difference in people's lives and help fight the most extreme poverty. The work is extremely fulfilling. Please distribute widely.

USAID is hiring Education Officers! We are looking for dynamic, committed education development professionals who want to make a difference in the lives of millions across the globe. USAID is an independent federal agency with a long history of extending a helping hand to people overseas struggling to make a better life, recovering from a disaster, or striving to live in a free and democratic country.
